

Summer School 2026

OpenEU

The Open
European University

Join us for the Learning and Innovation for Resilience and Sustainability Summer School!

The Open Universiteit (the Netherlands) is thrilled to invite you to participate in the Learning and Innovation for Resilience and Sustainability Summer School! Organized with the support of the OpenEU Consortium, the summer school will bring together PhD candidates from all disciplines for a transdisciplinary debate on how innovations and learning drive resilience and sustainability in individuals, organizations, cities, and society at large.

The summer school aims to create a debate and discussion platform for the multidisciplinary researchers of the future to present their research results and share relevant insights for addressing some of the pressing modern societal challenges.

Dates

August 28-30,
2026

Location

The Hague,
The Netherlands

EVENT HIGHLIGHTS

August 28th

- Welcome & registration for PhD candidates
- PhD workshops on academic publishing, open science, and more

August 29th

- Research presentation day with keynote speakers and parallel research sessions in which PhD candidates are welcomed to present their research.
- Social program & dinner

August 30th

- Research presentation day with keynote speakers and parallel research sessions in which PhD candidates are welcomed to present their research and open discussion on Seeking Sustainable Solutions
- Closing the conference